AMUSEMENTS.

THE COMEDY OF "TWINS" AT WALLACK'S

omedy of "Twins," by Mr. A. C. Wheeler and Mr. J Steele Mackage, to the American stage last night. The event was one of universal interest, and the audience was as brilliant and intelligent as a framatist would wish. A man who writes a very much in the condition who is tried for murder-he wants an ntellectual jury if he is innocent, and a merciful one f he is guilty. Mr. Wheeler, to whom we attri ute the actual authorship of this comedy—for we suppose Mr. Mackaye's stage experience was called into the service of Mr. Wheeler's nierary skill-had a jury pos-essed of both generosity and sound judgment. It warmly recognized the strength of the comedy, and was kindly indulgent to its weakness. This feeling was expressed with unusual force at the end of the third act, when, after Mr. Wallack, Mr. Holland, Miss Dyas and Mr. Floyd had been called before the curtain, the applause continued for nearly five minutes, smid cries for Wheeler!" "Wheeler!" delivered with stenturian energy. Such excitement as this was is not often nifested in a New York theatre, especially in Walack's, where the audience is renowned for its gentility. The gas was turned down and then turned up by the gas man, who was plainly a secret enemy of Mr. Wheeler, but n vain. The orchestra, led by Mr. Thomas Baker, sho was clearly a conspirator of the gas man, struck ap an air of Verdi's, with the malignant intention of atroducing all the trombones, but this was also un-The applause of the audience drowned the and the vanquished fiddlers and surrendered. The house did not want music, but Wheeler. Finally Mr. Lester Wallack rame before the curtain and announced that neither Mr. Wheeler nor Mr. Mackaye was in the house, but gracefully said that if they had been they would have een gratified to have made their acknowledgments, &c., &c. Where were they? That question was the phinxitic enigma to which the house played an unsucressful (Edipus. We are informed that when "She Stoops to Conquer" was brought out, Oliver Goldsmith ed about the chalk pits at Fulham, tearful of its fate, afraid to see it decided, and was finally found by Stoops to Conquer" was brought out, Oliver Goldsmith roamed about the chalk pits at Fulham, fearful of its fate, afraid to see it decided, and was finally found by his friends in a state of deep despondency, expecting to hear of its failure. Neither Mr. Wheeler nor his collaborateur need have had such apprehensions. "Twins" was received with enthusiastic applause and hearty laughter, and it is to be recretted that both of its authors did not bow their acknowledgments from the boxes—not from the stage, of course, for an inthor never should be seen out of his place nor should be ever make a speech. His work is expected to speak for him and he—deus cs machina—should permit the actors to tell his story, and permit only a brief plumpse of his sacred person—jost enough to assure the spectators of his existence. If Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Mackaye had appeared in person last evening they would have received the heartlest applause ever given to any authors in a New York theatre, and we do not except even Shakespeare or Boucacault.

The central idea of the comedy is capital. The iwins so much resemble each other that the friends, the wife and the daughter of Chester Detailed accept lark Detailed in his stead. This is an improbability to the start; but, if we are to leave improbability out of plays, what would become of the drama? Allowances must always be made for theatrical necessities. The two Detaileds. But another improbability—psychological, because founded on physical facts—exists the differences of character. One brother, Chester, is so wenk a man that he cannot matage his own household, and almost permits his daughter, wife and himself to become the victims of a villam. The other brother, Mark, is "a strong resolute, practical men," who saves them all in the end. The phenomenon is rare, as every phenomenon harden and the adjective from a circumstant of his permits his daughter, wife and himself to become the victims of a villam. The other brother, who saves them all in the cond. The phenomenon is rare, as every pheno which would lose the fortune of his daughter hary. Here Mr. Wallack made a great ht. The real interest of the play does not begin till the third act. All the rest is prologue, the background of a picture, the neutral timis required to make a contrast with positive colors. But two acts ought not to be surrendered to such a purpose, and for this reason we think that the comedy would be stronger than it is if it were written in three acts only. Mark is the man for whom the spectators truly care. He is the hero, and he is kept too long out of the story.

The play was splendadly mounted. The first scene, by Mr. Matt Morgan, a view of the sound, with a cotage in the foreground and long island in the distance, was so warmly received that the artist had to appear actore the curtain. The rest of the securey was also greatly admired. To the acting the same praise amont be given. Mr. Wallack, who played both Chester and Mark, was admirable and in the hitter character especially strong. His interview with Wylde in the third act was a powerful contrast with the bestleness of character expressed in the preceding parts of the play, and his comedy—cool, ironic and at times full of grim passion—was delightful. Miss Effle Germon charmingly supported Mr. Wallack, and the expusible way in which she uttered the simple phrase. To Lord: In the last act intensely amused the audience. Mr. Holland, as Wolfe, repeated the success he made as Diggory in "She Stoops to Conquer," and gave one of the fleest personations of the evening. Mr. Stevenson was also very acceptable, though we cannot say much in praise of the song Mr. G. R. Thomas wrote for him, "90 may!" though it was pleasingly sung. Mr. Gibert did the best with a part not wholly worthy of his genus. Miss Ada Dyas was a say of the strong the sunded to the complished actress display so little force or make so hitle of her opportunities. As for Miss Geraldine Maye she was evidently overweighted by the role of her opportunities. As for Miss Geraldine Maye she was evidently overweighted

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

Mile. Belocco was at the Park Theatre last night, and laughed heartily at Mr. Rowe's fine comedy of "Bras-,"
The sixth and last soirce of the New York string quartet takes place at Chickering Hall on Saturday

Mr. Robert Fraser, the best clown before the American public since poor Fox's retirement, will be the central figure in "Humpty Dumpty" at the Olympic eext week.

Mr. Theodore Thomas gives the last symphony concert at Steinway Hall on Monday next, with Miss Drasdil and Mr. S. B. Mills as the soloists. The programme is a fine one.

The sale of seats for the Belocca season of Italian Opera opens this morning at the Academy. The beauiful Russian prima donna will appear on Monday next in her best role, Rosina in "li Barbière," in which she won her most brilliant success.

"Das Madel Obne Geld" (Girl Without Money), a mu sical farce of the most humorous kind, has attained at the Germania Theatre a popularity second to none of as predecessors. The farce is the work of Jacobson and Berg; the music, very sparkling and brilliant is by Mr. Adolph Neuendorff. One of the most amusing atures is the admirable imitation of Wachtel by Mr. Merten. In voice, appearance and general make up it

A young New York prima donna has recently made a sensation in Italy on the operatic stage. Her name is Miss Dumsday, and she has been but few years to the land of song under the best masters. Last month she appeared at Carrara, and the leading musical journal, Il Trocators, of Milan, thus speaks of her effort:—
"The beautiful prima donna, Vittoria Dumsday, at her last benefit at the Carrara theatre, sang in "Lucia" and also the waltz from orab," receiving abundant applause and marks of public favor. Poetical addresses, floral tributes and a did crown rewarded her efforts. The Puesta entrale says that after the performance the fair young American artist was escorted to her residence by bend of music and that there was a display of fireworks in her honor. American tyric talent seems to be at a name as Dr. Baker, called on C. H. Mallory & Co., shipping agents, and purchased two passage tickets to Port Royal, S. C. One was made out in his name and the other left blank, the name to be supplied later, the stranger merely stating a lady would probably accompany him. He took passage on the vessel, as did also the lady for whom the ticket was purchased, but no one on board was aware of their acqualitance. When the vessel was less than a day at sea the lady took suddenly ill and died. During sickness Dr. Baker tendered his services, but made no mention of being her friend or acquaintance. On account of the suddenness of her death the captain of the vessel was anxious to keep the body until they arrived at Port Royal, S. C., that an examination might e made, but decomposition set in and a burial at sea

On his return to New York the captain made a report of the occurrence and nothing more was thought of it, as no suspicion of foul play in the matter was en-port of the occurrence and nothing more was thought of it, as no suspicion of foul play in the matter was entertained. The dead woman's luggage was sent back to New York also and remained unclaimed. This circumstance created some surprise and search of the control of the cont

OBITUARY.

This gentleman, who accompanied the last American Polar Expedition as an engineer, met a tragic end a short time since at his native place, Dresden, Mr. short time since at his native place, Dresden. Mr. Schumann for some time back suffered intensely from rheumatism, and was an inmate of the Deaconess Hospital, but being an inveterate smoker he was permitted to practise the habit in his room. It appears that he carried the practice so far as to indulge in it while lying in bed. Becoming sleepy, he laid his lighted cigar on the table and it set fire to the bedclothes. He was rescued, however, from being burned alive, but died shortly after the accident from the effects of the injuries he received.

ST. CECILIA'S GUILD.

The amateur theatrical performance for the benefit of the Guild of St. Cecilia, which was to have taken place at the Union League Theatre on Easter Monday, has been abandened on account of the illness of one of the intended performers. The ladies having charge of the affair, equal to the occasion, however, have arranged for a reception, at which recitations, music and dancing will afford enjoyment. The reception will take place at No. 23 Gramercy park on Easter Monday evening at eight o'clock. Tickets which were sold for the theatricals are good for the reception.

A CORRECTION.

NEW YORK, April 12, 1876.

Sir.—In your paper of this morning Mr. George H. Hamil, of No. 26 Third avenue, who has charge of the funeral of Mr. A. T. Stewart, is reported as the gentleman who had charge of the obsequies of President Lincoln. This is a mistake. The obsequies of Mr. Litcoin, in this city were in charge of P. Rolyea & Son. The beautiful catalaque, also, upon which the remains of the "dead President" were conveyed through this city being also made and furnished by them. By in serting this correction you will oblige. Yours, respectfully.

P. RELYEA & SON.
